

PokerStars Launches Poker, Sports and Casino Under Local Licence in Greece

LONDON, January 28, 2022 – PokerStars, part of Flutter Entertainment, has announced that its PokerStars, PokerStars Sports and PokerStars Casino products are now available in Greece under full licence from the Hellenic Gaming Commission (HGC).

The launch follows receipt of a local licence in July last year and means a range of PokerStars' popular real and play money poker games and tournaments, casino titles, sports betting markets, and promotions is now available to players in Greece at PokerStars.GR on web, and on desktop, tablet and mobile for iOS and Android.

Commenting on the announcement, Dan Taylor, CEO of Flutter International, said: "Launching PokerStars under a full local licence in Greece follows months of hard work from teams across the business. I'd like to thank them all for helping to make PokerStars' range of safe and trusted products available to players in Greece and for contributing towards our ongoing strategy of growing our business in international regulated markets."
